To recipients of the 1983 Labour Directory:

The 1983 issue of the Directory was printed with a substantial error in the reporting of the total membership of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. As a consequence of this error a number of revisions are required in the introductory tabulation section of the publication. Attached is a set of errata sheets to replace pages 9 to 16 in your copy of the Directory. Revised figures have been highlighted. Please also change the I.B.E.W. total membership on page 53 to 11,395.

The Ministry of Labour regrets the error and apologizes for any embarrassment to the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

FOREWORD

The BC Labour Directory is an annual publication of the Policy and Research Branch of the Ministry of Labour which compiles information with respect to membership and officials of collective bargaining organizations in the province. The reference date for statistical information is January 1, 1983.

Information for this publication is obtained by means of a survey mailed to all British Columbia unions early in the year. Every effort is made to obtain accurate and up-to-date information. The reliability of the information depends mainly on the accuracy of the respondents.

Particular attention is drawn to the union index at the end of the publication. Since some unions have locals with distinct and different names, and some unions are known by short names or initialisms, this index is included to serve as a finding guide to the union listing including full and short forms, initialisms and local names.

We wish to thank all those who cooperated during the gathering of the information that went into the preparation of the BC Labour Directory. In the event that errors or omissions are discovered, it would be appreciated if they were brought to our attention. The publication was produced by staff members Sheila Twilley and Pieta Van Dyke.

UNION MEMBERSHIP SUMMARY — 1983

As of January 1st, 1983 total trade union membership stood at 488,239. This represents a 3.9 per cent decrease from the 1982 total. This is the first decline in union membership since 1962 when there was a 2.4 per cent drop. The estimated proportion of paid workers who are union members was 46.1 per cent in 1983, down from 47.0 per cent in 1982. The current proportion, however, is higher than it has been in recent years. Similar levels of unionization were experienced in 1976-77 and 1963, with the peak level being experienced in 1958 when 55.4 per cent of British Columbia paid workers were unionized.

As a result of the serious economic recession almost all unions in the province experienced membership losses. The largest absolute decline in members, 9,243, was experienced by the International Woodworkers of America, clearly reflecting the difficult economic situation in the forest industry. The largest proportional decline in membership was in the United Steelworkers, down 26.8 per cent, followed by the International Woodworkers of America, down 22.0 per cent.

The relative ranking of unions by size has changed very little from 1982 to 1983. The largest union again is the B.C. Government Employees' Union (50,197), followed by the International Woodworkers of America (32,805), and the B.C. Teachers' Federation (30,248). Altogether, as was the case in 1982, 22 unions had 5,000 or more members in 1983.

Female trade union members also declined in numbers in 1983, although at a slower rate than that for males. The 0.6 per cent decline left a total of 158,542 female union members, representing 35.6 per cent of the total female paid work force. The male paid work force, by comparison, was 53.7 per cent unionized. Female membership was concentrated in 23 unions which had 1,000 or more female members, led by the B.C. Government Employees' Union, with 24,614 female members, the Hospital Employees' Union with 19,560, the B.C. Nurses Union with 16,611, the B.C. Teachers' Federation with 16,444, and the Canadian Union of Public Employees, with 11,549.

On an industrial basis, the largest concentration of union membership was in Community Services, with 21.7 per cent of the total membership. Community Services includes teachers and other education workers, health workers, and community service workers (other than municipal employees). The next highest concentration, 19.0 per cent was in Manufacturing, followed by the 16.8 per cent of union members involved in Public Administration (Federal, Provincial and Municipal).

Trade union affiliation patterns have changed since the 1982 edition of the Directory, due to the emergence of the Canadian Federation of Labour during 1982. The formation of this federation resulted from a withdrawal of building trade unions from the Canadian Labour Congress (C.L.C.), a major factor in the 69,401 reduction in members affiliated to the C.L.C. A total of 42,918 building trade union members are now affiliated to the Canadian Federation of Labour. The Carpenters' Union, previously affiliated to both the C.L.C. and the A.F.L.-C.I.O., currently retains affiliation only to the latter body. The Confederation of Canadian Unions comprises 19,416 affiliated members. Bargaining units not affiliated to any national or international federation or congress include 130,062 members.

Union Headquarters and Locals

UNION HEADQUARTERS AND LOCALS

This section contains membership and officer information for both headquarters and locals of unions in British Columbia. Entries are arranged in alphabetical order according to the short name of the labour organizations although no official recognition of such abbreviated titles is intended. In those instances where a union's short name is derived from the initials of its full name, alphabetical listing is usually based on the first word in the full name. (For example CUPE comes under "Canadian Union" rather than under "CU").

Beneath the short and full title listing of each union is its affiliation, if any, to international and/or national congresses or federations. Abbreviations used are:

AFL-CIO —American Federation of Labor—
Congress of Industrial Organizations

CLC —Canadian Labour Congress

CFL —Canadian Federation of Labour

BC FED —British Columbia Federation of Labour

CCU —Confederation of Canadian Unions

AFL-CIO/CLC—affiliated with both bodies
